The University City Food Truck Park

universityCity | PARTNERS

Reimagining University City as the leading community development hub

The University City Food Truck Park will serve as a platform for culinary innovation, placemaking, and community engagement, bringing tangible benefits to the districts and beyond. The park will include: Destination Branding, Entrepreneurs, Event-Driven Promotion, Corporate Sponsorship Opportunities, and an Economic Halo Effect for University City.

The activation of the underutilized land will enhance daily foot traffic and contribute to the area's growing reputation as a cultural and culinary destination. Community placemaking, and support for culinary entrepreneurs will create pathways for vendors to become brick-and-mortar businesses.

By transforming vacant or underused land into a dynamic, programmed space, the park will enhance daily foot traffic and contribute to the area's growing reputation as a cultural and culinary destination.

- Near 7605 University City Blvd, Charlotte, NC 28213

COMMUNITY

The University City Food Truck Park represents a forward- thinking investment in Charlotte's growth; transforming underused land into a space that celebrates entrepreneurship, diversity, and shared community life. With strong leadership from University City Partners, this initiative can become a cornerstone of University City's identity as a central dining hub and community destination.

Created by: Iyana Farrar & Shakira Hodges